

5

1. Staphylococcus aureus (Staph. aureus) - a common cause of skin infections, such as abscesses and boils.
 2. Streptococcus pyogenes (Strep. pyogenes) - responsible for strep throat and skin infections like cellulitis.
 3. Escherichia coli (E. coli) - often associated with urinary tract infections and food poisoning.
 4. Pseudomonas aeruginosa (Pseud. aeruginosa) - a common cause of respiratory infections and hospital-acquired pneumonia.
 5. Salmonella enterica (Salmonella) - causes salmonella poisoning, often from contaminated food.
 6. Shigella flexneri (Shigella) - causes shigellosis, a type of bacterial dysentery.
 7. Clostridium difficile (C. diff) - causes antibiotic-associated diarrhea and colitis.
 8. Legionella pneumophila (Legionella) - causes Legionnaires' disease, a severe form of pneumonia.
 9. Mycobacterium tuberculosis (M. tuberculosis) - the cause of tuberculosis, affecting the lungs and other parts of the body.
 10. Candida albicans (Candida) - a fungus that can cause yeast infections, including thrush and vaginal yeast infections.